

46. LET GO OF EXPECTATIONS

Ever since childhood, we are conditioned to live in a world of cause and effect, which teaches us that expectations (from yourself and others) are a huge, inevitable part of life.

And while that is largely true, when it comes to manifesting your ideal reality, it is very important not to get too hung up on your specific expectations (especially in terms of the "how" and "when").

Sometimes, your higher-self/God has so much more to offer you, that by holding on to your expectations, all you are doing is greatly limiting yourself and your experiences.

So while it is still important to have a vision and be clear about what you want, please allow for some divine intervention to take the lead on your dreams instead of being overly attached to how everything is "supposed to" unfold.

You will be pleasantly surprised to see what happens when you let your higher-self to take over and help bring your vision to life!
